Recovery Resource Council

Recovery Resource Council (formerly Tarrant Council on Alcoholism & Drug Abuse) was founded in 1957 by volunteers who were members of Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) to serve individuals and families affected by alcoholism by offering information and referral services. Every year, we receive over 100,000 phone calls from people seeking help or their families. Recovery Resource Council offers two main areas of services to meet our mission of reducing drug and alcohol abuse: prevention/intervention education, case management and workplace services.
